REV. IVINS ON NEW YORK EAST SIDE LIFE

CIVIC CLUB LISTEN TO AN INTERESTING LECTURE OF RECTOR ON SOCIOLOGICAL SUBJECT

MEETS AT HESS HOME

Music and Social Converse, With Refreshments, Make a Delightful Evening—About Fifty Present.

About fifty members and guests of the Civic Club met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Hess Monday evening and spent a most delightful evening the best part of which was a lecture by the Rev. Benj. F. P. Ivins on "The Lower East Side of New York City."

Mr. Ivins had spent three years in Mission work in the East Side and spoke from actual experience, which made his talk very interesting.

Thousands of foreigners land at Ellis Isle every year, and those who stay in New York City gather in districts of that great metropolis according to their nationality, and make what are real foreign cities within the big city.

There is the German quarter, the Italian, the Russian, the Jewish, the Chinese and even the Arab quarter all made up entirely of their own nationalities. The signs of the stores, the newspapers, the churches, the dress, the customs—everything is that of the foreign people who inhabit the quarter.

The boundaries of these quarters are as clearly cut as any could be. The people are the very worst of the old world.

Mr. Ivins told how the Italian banker mortgaged all the property and even the time of his poor countrymen, thus making them his slaves for life. He told how the Hungarian cigar manufacturers own the houses in which their workmen live, charge them very high rent and pay them only $3.75 a thousand for making cigars; how these cigars are made by both men and women in the awful stench of dirty, crowded rooms and then sent out all over the land and sold.

Thus are the poor and ignorant oppressed on every hand to make immensely wealthy the few. But the greatest curse is the owners of the tenement house in which these people live. He gets exorbitant rent for very small rooms into which come no fresh air nor light.

The tenement house began after the war of 1812, said Mr. Ivins, when New York City grew from 100,000 to 500,000 in less than ten years. The East Side was at that time the fashionable quarter and the streets there had the finest residences. As population poured in, this best class of people was crowded out and its place taken by foreigners. The large rooms of the palatial residences were cut up into three or four and the tenement house became a reality.

Something has been done, but the only remedy, Mr. Ivins thought, was to get tenement owners who would not sacrifice the good of the tenant for exorbitant gain. The problem is one of the very serious ones which our cities have to solve.

Mr. C. E. Harris favored the club with two vocal solos and Mrs. Harris gave a piano solo, both of which were much appreciated. Mrs. Rea Anderson, delighted all with her executions on the piano.

Messrs. and Mesdames L. J. Hess, Geo. Marks, C. A. Bondurant and W. C. Curtis were the hosts and hostesses, and they served delicious refreshments.
